IN NOTTS WE LOVE THE UNDERGROUND

Experience Nottinghamshire now

A friendly welcome

We love arranging visits for journalists – smell the scents, see the sights and delight in the tastes of Nottinghamshire with us!

Whether you are reporting for a national newspaper or a niche online publication, we understand the importance of meeting deadlines and providing exclusive story content and ideas.

We have expertise and knowledge when it comes to telling stories from across the county; we are up to date on news from the local tourism industry and can provide creative story suggestions for your use.

2017 is an excellent time to visit Nottingham. The Dinosaurs of China at Nottingham's Wollaton Hall is a world exclusive exhibition, coming to Europe for the first time. Featuring some of the best preserved dinosaur fossils and specimens never before seen outside of Asia, it will bring to life the story of how dinosaurs evolved into the birds that live alongside us today. The prime exhibit for the show is the Mamenchisaurus, which would have stood as high as three double decker buses and will be on display in a rearing pose that will be the full height of the great hall inside Wollaton Hall.

Also in July, the UK Corporate Games – Europe's largest annual multi sports festival for businesses – will be hosted in Nottingham, VisitEngland's Home of Sport. It is expected to attract around 5-6,000 participants to the city from all over the UK.

From history and heritage, weekend breaks, family holidays, food experiences, group leisure or any other travel experiences in Nottinghamshire, the Experience Nottinghamshire team is on hand to make your visit as easy as possible.

Best wishes,

Linda Parker

About Nottinghamshire...

Known around the world as the home of Robin Hood, Nottinghamshire is a diverse county full of tales to tell. From idyllic rural countryside and gentle rolling hills, to the mighty River Trent and ancient oak forests, our landscapes are just waiting to be explored, whatever the season.

Discover a county rich in legend and stories, which has inspired storytellers for centuries, including rebellious writers DH Lawrence, Alan Sillitoe and Lord Byron.

From its bloody history as the start and end point for the English Civil War, to being crowned the lace capital of the world during the Industrial Revolution, you'll be enthralled by heritage of our great county.

Located in the heart of England, you'll find the thriving city of Nottingham in the south of the county, and grand Ducal estates and rural countryside in the north.

Recent new attractions include the National Civil War Centre in Newark and the National Videogame Arcade in Nottingham – both are the first of their kind, and a great reason to visit. Plans are also underway for major additions to Nottingham Castle, with funding secured for a new visitor centre celebrating Nottinghamshire's history of rebellion and our most famous son, Robin Hood.

You'll find Robin lives on across the county, from the ancient oaks at Sherwood Forest, to exhibitions and walking tours celebrating his legend in Nottingham city centre.

Come and make some new friends here in Nottinghamshire, we can't wait to meet you.

A 2015 report shows that the value of tourism in Nottinghamshire is worth £1.68bn to the local economy, an increase of 4.5% from 2014, and the number of visitors to the county reached more than 34 million. We'd love to show you why tourism to Nottinghamshire is on the increase.

Enjoy your visit – we know you will. Where to start is your choice....

Looking ahead...

Stay in Lord Byron's backyard

Following its opening in March 2016, visitors can now stay in the original Gardener's Cottage in the beautiful grounds of Newstead Abbey, once the home of the romantic poet Lord Byron. Set within the heart of the grounds, the Gardener's Cottage is a charming Grade II listed cottage overlooking the original Rose Garden, refurbished to a very high standard while still retaining original features such as wooden floorboards and beautiful stone mullion windows. The Gardener's Cottage sleeps up to six people, with two double bedrooms, and also has its own private walled courtyard, perfect for an alfresco breakfast or a glass of wine after a day exploring rural Nottinghamshire. Newstead Abbey is a visitor attraction known for its beautiful formal gardens, set over 300 acres and including a Japanese Garden, Walled Garden, Rose Garden and Spanish Garden.

National Videogame Arcade

The world's first cultural centre for gaming, the National Videogame Arcade (NVA), opened in Nottingham in March 2015, bringing hands-on experiences of videogames and videogame culture under one roof in a way that's never been seen before. The £2.5m project has been organised by GameCity, and across five floors will feature...

- Four gallery floors, which will exhibit quarterly exhibitions featuring new and specially-commissioned works.
- A floor dedicated to education, where students of all ages can get hands-on experience of game-making
- A permanent exhibition of treasures from the National Videogame Archive. Run in collaboration with Nottingham Trent University and the Science Museum, the National Videogame Archive is the UK's national collection of video game history and ephemera, with over 12,000 objects.

Visit the UK's newest City of Literature

Nottingham was announced as the newest UNESCO City of Literature in December 2015, so now is the ideal time to visit the UK's newest City of Literature and only the second in England. Plan a literary themed break, and visit the former home of controversial author DH Lawrence, or the beautiful Bromley House Library, which celebrated its 200th birthday in 2016. Stay at the newly opened Gardener's Cottage self catering accommodation, in the grounds of Newstead Abbey – once the grand home of romantic poet Lord Byron.

National Civil War Centre

In May 2015, the UK's first ever National Civil War Centre opened in Newark. The £5.4m centre is a flagship project by Newark and Sherwood District Council and will be housed in the Grade II* Old Magnus Building which began life as a Tudor grammar school. The centrepiece theme is the deadly struggles for power in 17th century Britain during the British Civil Wars. The struggle to control Newark, a staunchly Royalist town, was one of the defining events of the Civil War. It was near here that King Charles I surrendered to the Scots Army which was allied to the Roundheads. www.civilwarnewark.co.uk

Malt Cross

The Malt Cross Music Hall secured over £1.38 million from the Heritage Lottery Fund (HLF), and in October 2014 re-opened after major refurbishment, including the opening of previously hidden caves beneath the historic venue. Malt Cross is a wonderful old Victorian music hall that is considered to be one of Nottingham's greatest hidden historical gems, originally built in 1877. The money was used to renovate and restore the building to its former glory, while also providing new space in the currently unused basement levels for arts and crafts workshops, music rehearsal space and a new and improved art gallery. www.maltcross.com

The Harley Gallery

The new Harley Gallery on the Welbeck Estate opened in March 2016 – it provides a new permanent home for the Portland Collection, amassed by the Dukes of Portland over centuries, and not previously on public display. With more than 11,000 items in total, it's a collection of huge significance, and the new gallery will feature items including a Michelangelo not seen in public for 50 years, a pearl earring worn by Charles I at his execution and a number of miniatures. Also within walking distance is Creswell Crags, a limestone gorge home to some of Britain's only known Ice Age art: So the two combined make for a very interesting arts destination in 2017, in the beautiful setting of rural north Nottinghamshire. <http://www.harleygallery.co.uk/portland-collection/new-gallery/>

Nottingham Castle

Nottingham Castle, a magnificent 17th century ducal mansion, will receive £12.9 million from the Heritage Lottery Fund, part of a £24 million makeover and given a redevelopment to transform it into a major heritage attraction and bring its amazing 1,000 history to life. The transformation is expected to be completed by 2020.

Dinosaurs from China

In summer 2017, a world-exclusive dinosaur exhibition will be coming to Wollaton Hall in Nottingham, featuring fossils and specimens never before seen outside of Asia. The exhibition includes the best preserved dinosaur fossils from anywhere in the world, not just the bones, but also soft parts including skin and feathers. Many of the species are new to science, only discovered and named in the last 20 years, and some as recently as 2015. Highlights include the prime exhibit for the show - the Mamenchisaurus, which would have stood as high as three double decker buses and will be on display in a rearing pose that will be the full height of the great hall inside Wollaton Hall as well as rare specimens such as the Gigantoraptor – the largest feathered dinosaur ever found – and the flying Microraptor – a close relative of the Velociraptor. www.dinosaursofchina.co.uk

Welbeck is the 'Creme de la Creme'

Beautiful Welbeck Abbey in the north of Nottinghamshire is enjoying primetime exposure, thanks to being the setting for the BBC2 TV series: Bake Off Creme de la Creme. This historic private home is open in August, giving visitors the chance to see all its glory first hand on one of the exclusive State Room Tours.

Ten things to do...

1. National Civil War Centre

Step back in history and witness the deadly struggles for power in 17th century Britain. The UK's first ever National Civil War Centre is set to open in Newark in spring 2015, reviving memories of the three sieges it endured during the British Civil Wars. Nottinghamshire played a central role during the conflicts, with the riots starting at Nottingham Castle. Set to open in spring 2015. <http://www.nationalcivilwarcentre.com/>

2. Nottingham Castle

Set high upon the Castle Rock and commanding spectacular views over the city, Nottingham Castle is not to be missed. The impressive 17th century ducal mansion now stands as a municipal museum, the first of its kind outside London, housing beautiful works from around the world. Enjoy a tour which includes the labyrinth of secret caves and tunnels underground. www.nottinghamcity.gov.uk/nottinghamcastle

3. City of Caves

A well kept secret is that Nottingham is built on more than 500 man-made, sandstone caves dating back to medieval times. Descend far below street level and discover how the caves were used as tanneries, bomb shelters and homes from the expert guides or on an audio tour, promising a walk around a shopping centre like no other. <http://www.cityofcaves.com/>

4. School Of Artisan Food

Foodie lovers are in for a treat in Nottinghamshire. The School of Artisan Food is the UK's only not-for-profit school dedicated to artisan food, and recently named Cookery School of the Year at the British Cookery School Awards 2014. It offers an opportunity for people of all skill levels to expand their knowledge through a wide range of courses. <http://www.schoolofartisanfood.org/>

5. Newstead Abbey

Set in more than 300-acres of parkland, Newstead Abbey was once home to romantic poet Lord Byron. Explore his ancestral home, which has been preserved intact and contains many of his belongings and his original bed. December 2015 will mark 200 years since the birth of Byron's daughter, the pioneering mathematician Ada Lovelace, who is buried alongside her father in Nottingham. <http://www.newsteadabbey.org.uk/>

6. Nottingham Contemporary

Set in Nottingham's historic Lace Market area, Nottingham Contemporary is one of the largest contemporary art centres in the UK. It hosts a number of exhibitions each year from leading contemporary artists from around the world. Along with four galleries, there is a performance and film space and a Cafe Bar and it is free to visit.

<http://www.nottinghamcontemporary.org/>

7. Sherwood Forest & Major Oak

Internationally linked to the legend of Robin Hood, Sherwood Forest is a 450-acre country park which incorporates beautiful birch trees alongside more than 1,000 veteran oaks, including the Major Oak, recently awarded Tree of the Year by Woodland Trust. Numerous events and festivals take place throughout the year, and a cycling or walking trip comes highly recommended. www.nottinghamshire.gov.uk/sherwoodcp

8. Wollaton Hall & Deer Park

Set within a 500-acre deer park, Wollaton Hall is a spectacular Elizabethan mansion and was chosen by Warner Bros as the set of Wayne Manor in 2012 The Dark Knight Rises Batman film. Built by Sir Francis Willoughby as a home for his family and now holds the city's Natural History Museum, it is a popular tourist attraction and a local-love.

9. Ye Olde Trip to Jerusalem

Enjoy a pint of tasty real ale and divine food whilst sat in a cave at the oldest Inn in England. The pub is an attraction in itself and draws tourists from around the world who are fascinated by its rich history. Sat at the foot of Nottingham Castle, there are numerous ghost stories about visitors who never left. <http://triptojerusalem.com/>

10. Galleries of Justice Museum

Based at Nottingham's old courthouse and gaol, there is no better way to explore the gruesome history of crime and punishment than with one of their tours. Put your family on trial in the Victorian law court and venture down below street level into the cells and dungeons to hear about the terrible conditions endured by the prisoners.
